ABSTRACT:

- “To Take care of those who once cared for us is an honor”.
- The number of medications and their specific instructions can become
- increasingly complex.
- Additionally, memory and cognition can be affected by aging. As a
- result of these factors, many older adults do not take their medications
- as instructed.
- Especially for diabetic patients, as it may cause serious issues. Hence
- to help them to take medicines properly on time, a product is designed.
- The product automatically collects the medicine for a particular time and gives it to the elderly and a mobile application alerts the caretaker.
